ABOUT ME

I developed strong time management, dedication, and independent learning skills during my IGCSE O'Level period, effectively balancing online classes and self-study. At Asia Pacific University (APU), I continue to apply these skills to manage university academics while self-learning front-end development. Engaging with international students has enhanced my communication, teamwork, and leadership abilities, allowing me to collaborate effectively. My passion for programming drives me to continuously expand my knowledge, particularly in front-end development, where I am self-studying HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, SCSS, Tailwind, JavaScript, ReactJS, and NextJS.
